Desert Survival

Name:
 Date:
 Hour:

It is approximately 10:00 a.m. in mid-July, and you have just crash-landed in the Sonora Desert in the southwestern part of the United States. Your light twin-engine plane, containing the bodies of the pilot and co-pilot, has completely burnt out. Only the frame remains. None of the rest of you have been injured.

The pilot was unable to notify anyone of your position before you crashed. However, ground sightings taken shortly before the crash suggested that you are about 65 miles off-course from your originally filed flight plan. A few moments before the crash, the pilot indicated that the nearest known habitation was a mining camp 70 miles away in a north-northeast direction.

The immediate area is quite flat and appears to be rather barren except for the occasional cacti. The last weather report indicated that the temperature would reach 110°F (43°C).

You are dressed in lightweight clothing - short-sleeved shirts, shorts, socks, and leather shoes. Everyone has a handkerchief. Collectively, your pockets contain $1.25 in change, $81 in notes, and a ballpoint pen.

Rank the following items, in the first column only, in the order you would choose to bring them. Number 1 is the most important item, number 2 is the second-most important, and so on. Number 15 is the least important item.

When everyone in your group is done with the first column, discuss and agree on a group ranking.
